

MILITARY FAMILY LEAVE

A MILITARY FAMILY LEAVE is time taken away from your place of work for one of two reasons:

MILITARY CAREGIVER LEAVE is taken by a spouse, parent, child or next of kin to care for a service member who incurred a serious injury or illness in the line of duty in the Armed Forces.

QUALIFYING EXIGENCY LEAVE is for needs arising from the deployment of your spouse, child or parent on covered active duty with the Armed Forces:

- *short term deployment
- *military events
- *non-routine childcare
- *rest & recuperation
- *non-routine parental care
- *counseling
- *post-deployment activities
- *financial & legal arrangements
- *other approved reasons

How long can you take?

Eligible workers can receive up to 12 weeks of income replacement in a 12 month period. Your leave can be taken on a continuous basis, intermittent basis or on a reduced schedule basis.

Apply at CTPaidLeave.org or call/text 860-208-8288 to make an appointment with a Community Outreach Specialist. We can answer your questions, provide a computer and internet, and walk you thru the process.
